- 1) Dedicated to all the Mothers and their beautiful daughters.

A short poem by chinmayi D

Let there be few grinning pimples

As they dazzle my life circles,

Ohh I'm fed up of hearing rumours

That centering my acne marks,

I don't need a blush

As I have scars, That

Light up my cheeks dimples,

Ouch , I've got stretch marks

But wait they are my tiger stripes,

I do have Belly fat

And people say to pop it up

But still how do I look good in a crop top,

Let there be 2 strands of white hair

Hope you stop hiding it from public gaze,

I don't give a damn the way you are,

Cause I love the way I am ,

I'm dare to flaunt my flaws,

As they sparkle the way my looks are,
I'm welcoming you to my teenage wonders
Let's make it new normal trends !

2) Yoga and mind healing practices offer valuable tools for engineers to navigate the challenges of their demanding profession while maintaining optimal mental and physical well-being. By incorporating these practices into their lives, engineers can cultivate resilience, reduce stress, improve concentration, and find greater balance, leading to increased productivity and overall job satisfaction. Embracing these holistic approaches can contribute to the creation of a healthy and thriving engineering community, where individuals are supported in achieving both personal and professional success.
